PHILADELPHIA, Pa. Dr. Schenck-Dear Sir:-About two years ago I was taken with a very troublesome cough and a pain in my breast; seven or eight months passed away without my doing anything for myself. Then I applied to a physician, who attended me for about three months without rendering me any service. I also obtained the advice and treatment of a physician in one of our hespitals, and also had the advice and treatment of two other physicians, but all to no purpose. During this long space of time I was nearly dead; several times my friends came to see me and witness my exit into the spirit world. I was confined to my bed two months at one time. My breathing was exceedingly short. I gave up several times all hope of getting better, and as regards getting well, that was entirely out of the question. And, to think this day I am well and hearty! I was advised by some of my friends to try Dr. Schenck's Medicines. I accordingly bought bottle after bottle, until I reached the ninth; then I found a decided change in my cough for the better. I suffered severely from the palpitation of the heart, and wo weeks after I commenced taking your medicine this difficulty ceased.

When I first went to Dr. Schenck's office, it was with difficulty that I could get up into his reception room, I was so weak and so swelled; my skin was as sallow as though I had the jaundice; I felt dull, heavy, and sleepy. Dr. Schenck, after examining me, said both my lungs were affected, and gave me but little hope; but his medicines, in about two weeks, took right hold of me; it seemed to go right through my whole system. The Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills all took right hold in the right place. The Pills brought away great quantities of bile and slime; the Syrup loosened the matter in my lungs, which came off very free; the Seaweed Tonic gave me an appetite, and everything seemed to taste good.

To show what great power the medicines had in purifying my system, and to show how bad I was, besides all the bile that passed my bowels, and the great quantities of phlegm and matter I expectorated, I broke out all over in large boils, that would continue to gather and run for about six weeks, and I had had at one time over twenty-five boils. I have nothing of the kind now, and feel like another person altogether. I can safely say that I have not enjoyed such health for five years as I do now, and cannot praise you and your medicines enough. May God abundantly bless and preserve you! is the sincere desire of one who has been so wonderfully relieved through your agency; and if any one desires to know with regard to the truthfulness of this report, if they will call upon any of my friends, or upon me, No. 514 Thompson street, Philadelphia, they will be perfectly satisfied with the validity of the case.

Yours, with much respect, MARY SCHNAIDT. Now Mrs. Joseph H. Baldwin. The above case, as described, is perfectly

THE UNIVERSITY-JUNIOR EXHIBITION OF THE CLASS OF 1888.—At 5 o'clock this afternoon the friends of the University of Pennsylvania, will assemble in the Hall of the University, on Ninth street, between Chesnut and Market, to witness the Junior Exhibition of the class of "68." The following programme will show the character of the attractive entertainment:-

....By the Provost James P. Sims

Oration-"Critica"

STRALING CLOTHING .- For some time past, Straing Clothing.—For some time past, dwellings in South Broad street have been robbed, on different occasions, of large amounts of clothing. The police became cognizant that there was a party of individuals engaged in these operations, and have arrested several of the main movers. Last night Neil Galliagher was arrested at Twentieth and Shippen, on a war ant issued by Alderman Dallas, sworn out by officer McKinney, for being one of the persons engaged in these robberles. A lot of clothing was recovered from him, which was identified as belonging to a house lately robbed. He was committed by Alderman Dallas, in default of $1000 bail for his appearance at Court.

Berglary.—Last night, at a late hour, the residence of Mr. Kean, No. 2034 Vine street, was ransacked by burglars. The depredators gained admittance by prying off the trap-door on the roof of the dwelling, and on passing out went through the regular passage. They obtained $40 in money, and, by appearances, were operating in an extensive manner, as a large amount of silver-ware, ornaments, etc., were piled and packed up ready to be taken away. The parties were frightened off, as some articles which they had taken were dropped in their flight.

A VISITOR .- Last evening a youth of tender age introduced himself to the family of Dr.
Thomas, residing on Tweifth street, above Filbert, who were somewhat astonished to find him in a basket, well bound up. An officer passing took charge of the waif, who was sent to the

TEMPERANCE MEETING-ADDRESSES BY REVS. ALFRED COOKMAN, JOHN MOORE, AND OTHER -Last evening a temperance meeting was held in the Second Dutch Reformed Church (Rev. T. De Witt Talmage), Seventh street, above Brown. The attendance was very large, and all seemed deeply impressed with the exer-cises. The inclemency of the weather, no doubt, prevented many from participating, but, nevertheless, the deep interest manifested by all gives hope that they will profit by what they heard, and unite all their energies in furthering the temperance cause.

The exercises were opened by the singing of a trio from Attila. Rev. Dr. Henderson then led in prayer.

Th duett of "The Swallows" was then rendered with splendid effect.

Rev. T. De Witt Talmage presided.

In introducing Rev. Aifred Cookman, he said:—Friends of the cause of Temperance, I have to congratulate you on the entertainment that you will have this evening. I will not detain you with any extended remarks. Allow me to introduce to you the eloquent Rev. Dr.

This gentleman, on coming forward, said:-He did not expect to be called on so soon or so suddenly. His object was to hear the subject under consideration before he branched out and entered upon any eloquent remarks, as you have been pleased to denominate them. I will simply make a few remarks respecting this vital matter. It impresses me as rather an extraordinary thing for a main-lac-I place special emphasis on the main part of the wordto appear before an intelligent audience to speak upon any subject, but especially respect-ing the madness which has been occasioned by istoxicating drink. I am here, this evening, not from a lunatic asylum, not from the gloomy cell of an infuriated madman, but I am here from one of the most comfortable of earthly bomes, in order that I may bear my humble testimony against a drink which, in ten thousand instances, has hurled reason from its bonored throne, and made it necessary to manacle the limbs of man made after God's own image. Nor, sir, am I to be intimidated in this discharge of my duty by the utterance of any opprobrious epithets, Maniacs, I thank them for it, I glory in it. Standing before the intelligent people of Philadelphia, I would em-ploy the language of Christianity's great cham-pion, and say I would that all who see me tonight, aye, and every citizen of this city and th Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, aye, and o the entire world, I would that every living bein were not almost, but altogether such as I am in this respect. If I am a maniac, I rejoice to know that I am a free and untrammelled maniac, No clanking chains are attached to these limbs. I stand to-night upon America's soil, and I rejoice that I am among Bible-loving people. The whisky-sellers of this country charge us with an unwarrantable interference with their rights and priviliges. It was only a short time since, appare filly, that a proprietor of one of these miserable establishments, in his chagrin and disappointment, occasioned his chagrin and disap-ointment, occasioned by the action of the authorities in the discharge of their sworn duties in closing his miserable groggery on the Sabbath day, provided himself with a shingle, and daubed upon it in large capitals, "Liberty is Dead," and set it up over the gateway of his establishment, "Liberty is dead," Dead to those children of another race who on this western continent are to-night rejoicing and exulting in the liberty wherewith they have so recently been made aree. Let us inquire what recently been made free. Let us inquire what kind of liberty this is? Liberty to blast noble hopes, to blight encouraging prospects, to crush innocent hearts, to desolate happy homes, to ruin character, to undermine health, to blind life's pathway, and invest eternity with a terrible darkness. Aye, Liberty is dead! Would that the liberty of every rumseller was twice dead and torn up by the roots. The liberty of the rumseller is one of the most fearful curses that ever affected poor, suffering, struggling humanity. I rejoice to know that there is great zeal being exhibited in this thing, and that you are preparing for the capture. The wolf is revealing himself, his eye-balls are red with rum and rage, and his fearful howlings indicate resistance. But the experience of the past will help us to overthrow him. God is on past will help us to overthrow him. God is on our side; the angels are on our side; truth, human sympathy, and the church are on our side; and I believe, sir, that the victory will be on our side. In every page of our statute book the law acknowledges prohibition. The same law which guards against the sale of putrid meats and other articles calculated to injure our fellow men, should govern us in relation to the sale of liquor. Let us put this evil against which we as temperance men are fighting, in the same category as we place lotteries, gam-bling houses, and other great evils. Those who are guilty of selling intoxicating liquors appear to be insensible of the injury they are doing to those to whom they deal out these poisonous drugs. Look at the vast number of children and women who are made unhappy and sent to resulting from this vice. Husbands and fathers drink, and their families feel the unhappy consequences. Let us approach for a moment the keeper of one of these houses where deadly our Almshouse and prisons through the evil correct. I know it to be true. T. B. MILLER, keeper of one of these houses where deadly poison is sold, and argue the case with the proprietor. He will charge us with bigotry, and exultantly turn away snaking his bag of dollars at us—the product of sales. Moral sussion will not do. Fifty years have been employed to avert this evil, and yet it exists among us. We must, have moral snasion in connection with avert this evil, and yet it exists among us. We must have moral suasion in connection with healthy legislation. The speaker here referred to the noble course of Governor Geary in reference to this matter, and looked to him to stand by the reform, and thus aid in saving from ruin multitudes who are fast going down the road to ruin in consequence of induiging in strong drinkt

Rev. John Moore followed in an able address, which was listened to by all present with marked attention. The hour having arrived to adjourn the meeting, Rev. Mr. Talmage, who would otherwise have spoken, said it would be very intemperate to prolong the proceedings. He then pronounced the benediction.

The Lottery Business.—On complaint being lodged by Mrs. Durell, who resides on Wood street, above Seventh, the following-named parties were arrested for enticing men, as it is alleged, to purchase tickets in an institution established in some part of Kentucky—Samuel Babb and George Davis, somewhat advanced in years, who keep a rummery and gambling saloon in Fifth street, above Race: Charles Patrick, William Benjamin, and William Glachins, who live in the vicinity of Race and Fitth, and who, under cover of various profes-THE LOTTERY BUSINESS .- On complaint being Fifth, and who, under cover of various professions, make a business of selling tickets in lotteries, and effectually gull such persons purchasing. Alderman Hurley held each to answer next Tuesday at 4 P. M. In $500 bail.

MAGNIFICENT MILLINERY .- The Spring fashions in millinery are exquisite to a degree, and Mad'lle Keogh, No. 904 Walnut street, has made great preparations for their presentation. Her elegant store has been greatly enlarged and beautified, and it is now complete and magnificent in all its departments. Mad'lle Keogh has cent in all its departments. Mad'lle Keogh has already introduced every Parisian and London novelty, in fancy as well as mourning millinery, and our lady readers is would inspect her rich and varied modes and stock, and thus be strictly in the fashson.

Youngeters in Trouble .- Frederick Sheehan and Hugh Croty, each having attained the age of twelve years, were yesterday afternoon ar-rested for stealing pocket and memorandum books from a trimming store, owned by Miss Hurler, located in the Twenty-seventh Ward. Croty was sometime ago arrested for arson; but on account of his youth and his first appear-ance before Court, sentence was suspended. As it is now, both go to the House of Refuge.

A Man Dog .- About 6 o'clock this morning a mad dog, in and about Second and Christian streets, kept small children and older persons within doors through fear, and bit a number of dogs in the vicinity, which dogs, after being nipped in the neck by said mad dog, were immediately despatched by their owners. Officer William Goodwin shot the cause of all the trouble, and killed him instantly.

CORONER'S INVESTIGATION IN CAMDEN .- COTOner Roberts held an investigation this morning in the case of John Markey, who died on Saturday last. The circumstances of the case and the cause of his death are set forth in the following evidence:

Harris Hampton sworn—I was passing Param's Hampton sworn—I was passing Param's Hotel on the 2d of April I heard a souffle

s on's Hotel, on the 2d of April; I heard a scuffe in the house; it was about a quarter before twelve o'clock P. M.; that attracted my attention to the door, I saw a man coming out of the door backwards; he fell on the pavement, and then kind of raised his head about haif a minute; I then saw a young man come through the door, and stepped down on the pavement, and hit him between the eyes; the and hit him between the eyes; the man fell like a log; I said to the man, "You have killed him;" he said, "I have not;" I told him the man wouldn't live five minutes; then he caught him (deceased) by the shoulder and said "John, none of your fooling;" I said he wasn't tooling; I then told him he ought to be arrested; he said, "If you take it up just step down here on the lot and I will serve you the same."

The witness recognized Bradley as the one who struck deceased.

John H. Fine sworn-I was present at the time of the occurrence; I saw what occurred outside; Bradley was in the doorway when he strock Markey; to the best of my knowledge he had hold of Bradley.

Dr. Cullen testified—That the deceased came to his death by concussion of the brain.

Several other witnesses were examined, but the testimony was simply corroborative of the

The jury rendered the following verdict:—
That the said John Markey came to his death from blows inflicted and injuries received at the hands of Alexander Bradley, at Parson's Hotel on the second of April, 1867.

Bradley was committed to answer at Court. Robert F. Bates, of Philadelphia, has been commissioned a Second Lieutenaut of the Regular Army, in the Eighteenth Regiment of the United States Infantry. pondence between Count Wydenbruck, Secretary Seward, Senor Romero, and Minister Campbell. Much anxiety is exhibited to see the documents, and opinions seem to vary widely as to Mr. Seward's mode of proceeding. The feeling is generally in favor of the humans interposition of our Government in behalf of Maximilian and his adherents, who, in their hour of extreme peril, excite sym-pathy and admiration of good men There are some people, however, and men of influence in the highest circles, who express anything but Christian feeling. of these, an eminent Senator, remarked to-day that if it was true that Mr. Seward had interposed to rescue the unfortunate Emperor of Mexico from the consequences of his folly, he (Mr. Seward) must be suffering from an attack of unaccountable weakness. The honorable Senator thinks it impossible for Maximilian to escape being shot if he is caught. Senator Sumner, you will notice, has introduced a resolution calling for the production of the correspondence on the subject, if not incompatible with the public interest. Red tape is so potent here that perhaps the Secretary will decide that it is not compatible.

Maximilian's Enlistments in Cuba. Havana dates of the 3d inst. have been received in Washington, with the following information in regard to the Spanish enlist ments for Maximilian: - "The Republican Mexican Consul addressed a letter to the United States Consul at Havana complaining of that violation of neutrality. Consul Minor brought the subject to the knowledge of the Captain-General, who said that he was not aware of it, and that he would see that the recruiting should cease. Not-withstanding this, the Spanish steamer withstanding this, the Spanish steamer Paris and the English steamer Solert took on board, on the 22d and the 25th ult., several recruits, and several other sailing vessels have since taken them, the total number of recruits who have left Havana being about 200. When Consul Minor was satisfied that, notwithstanding the assurances of General Mangelo, four vessels had left with recruits, he asked the Mexican Consul for affidavits of some of the enlisted persons, and other documentary proof of that transaction, with a view of submitting an official complaint about it to the Spanish authorities in Cuba, and communicating the same to the department at Washington.

LATEST FROM WASHINGTON.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.] WASHINGTON, April 11. The Tenure of Office Bill in Secret Ses-

mion. The Senate has up the question of the power of the President, under the Civil Tenure bill, in secret session. It turns out that the Solicitor of the Treasury, Mr. Jordan, holds that when there is a vacancy, and the Senate is not in session, that the President can appoint a deputy to assess and collect taxes. The Attorney-General approves of Jordan's opinion.

General Rousseau's Case. Ronsseau's case is again under consideration in executive session.

The President Very Unwell. The President's health to day is not materially changed, and he is seeing nobody but Cabinet Ministers.

The Russian Treaty. An attempt is being made to reconsider the Russian Treaty, on the ground that money was improperly used to secure its passage. There is no probability that it will be reconsidered. Mr. Yates did not vote against it, as reported. The two Senators who yound against it were Fessenden and Forry.

Question of Adjournment. It is thought that the construction put on the Tenure of Office bill by the Attorney-General will cause the Senate to sit until all the nomins are disposed of, especially the Minister to Austria. United States Senate-Extra Session. Washington, April II.—The President laid before the Senate the credentials of James A. Bayard, appointed a Senator by the Governor of Delaware, to supply a vacancy caused by the death of George R. Riddie. Mr. Bayard was qualified by taking the oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and also subscribed to the Congressional oath of loyalty.

Mr. Sumner (Mass.) offered a resolution that the President of the United States be requested to furnish the Senate. If in his opinion not incompatible with the also subscribed to the Congressional oath of loyalty.

Mr. Sumner (Mass.) offered a resolution that the President of the United States be requested to furnish the Senate, if in his opinion not incompatible with the public interests, copies of any official opinions which may have been given by the Attorney-General, the Solictor of the Treasury, or by any other officer of the Government, on the interpretation of the act of Congress regulating the tenure of Office, and especially with regard to appointments by the President to offices during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Sumner said he understood that opinions had been given which went far to nutilify the present action of Congress. It would seem that we have mailfication here in Washington, in the Executive branch of the Government.

He understood, according to these opinions, the President was to exercise the power of appointment during the recess of Congress, notwithstanding a recent act of Congress which understook to regulate the tenure of office. Now they all knew the astuteness of lawyer, and it was sometimes said that lawyers could drive a coach and six through an act of Parliament or even an act of Congress.

Perhaps the Administration is about to drive a coach and six through an act of Congress. In other words, that it was about to force upon the country officers who cannot be officers under the existing law. It seemed to him important that before the senate adjourned they should understand whether any such opinion had been given and the reasons for it. On that account he introduced the resolution now before the Senate.

Mr. Anthony (R. I.) reported a resolution to print the thousand copies of the "Army Register" for Issa.

This was amended, on motion of Mr. Morton (Ind.), to print three thousand, and passed.

Mr. Anthony also reported a resolution, which was passed, to print five thousand copies of the 1 eport on the repairs of the Mississippi leves.

Mr. Anthony also reported a resolutions calling on the Executive, or any of the probable expense, and th tion, shall be first referred to a special committee to report an estimate of the probable expense, and that the report be made without delay.

Mr. Cameron (Pa.) said there were many reasons why this rule should not be adopted. He thought they had enough trouble now, without being further embarrassed by rules. Objection being made by him to the consideration of the resolution it went over.

Mr. Thayer (Nebraska) called up his resolution, heretofore introduced, calling upon the President to furnish information about the absence of Governor Cummings from Colorado Territory, whether he had been paid during such absence, etc. At the suggestion of Mr. Cameron, Mr. Thayer consented to let the resolution again go over informally, owing to the absence of Mr. Buckalew.

On motion of Mr. Williams the Senate went into executive session.

From St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 11.—The Democrat's correspondent with General Hancock's Indian expedition, writing from St. Joseph on the 2d inst., says a council was held at Fort Dodge on the 2ith uit, between Major Dodge and several chiefs of the Kiowas. The latter professed much friendship for the whites, and desired to be at peace with them; but stated that the Black Feet, Sioux, Cheyennes, Arrapahoes, and Camapohes are determined for war, and will Camanches are determined for war, and will

They spoke about several Northern tribes They spoke about several Northern trices banding together for war, making overtures to the Southern tribes to join them, and predicting that the whites would have their hands full. The indications all favor a grand Indian confederation and a bloody war. A very enthusiastic Fenian meeting was held here lest night. One hundred men joined the 7th Regiment, and considerable money was subscribed for the cause.
